WHY ACCREDITATIONS SHOULD MATTER TO HOMEOWNERS

---

WHAT ARE ACCREDITATIONS?

---

Accreditations are a form of verification that confirm whether products meet specific standard requirements to perform a particular function. Sidey have a long list of accreditations that relate to product quality, the environment, installation quality, manufacturing processes and health & safety to name a few.

For Sidey to achieve these accreditations, our products, systems & services go through testing that is conducted by an independent body and must meet defined standards.

---

We'd like to think that these standards are important to our customers. In the current situation we all find ourselves in, we recognise that price is important. The cost-of-living has shot up and the cost of everything has increased. So we think that you need to be ensuring that whatever you buy - whether it's the weekly shop or the home you live in and the components you need for an extension for example, whatever it is you are spending your hard earned money on - you deserve to get the best quality products you can, that will last and do the job you expect them to do. And we want to make sure you get value for money.

These accreditations give our customers confidence by ensuring consistently high standards in the quality of our products and service.

“
A WAY OF VERIFYING THE QUALITY OF OUR PRODUCTS.

WHY ARE ACCREDITATIONS IMPORTANT TO SIDEY?

---

By investing and going through these processes, it allows us to provide our customers with a way of verifying the quality of our products and services. It also provides a way to objectively compare the products of one company to another.

We haven't set out to achieve more accreditations than anyone else, but it is important to us that we have all the necessary and relevant accreditations to be able to work closely with all our customers - whether an individual homeowner or a major housing association, building contractor or professional construction consultant. Whether we are supplying a single window or door, or many hundreds or even thousands of them. The quality must be the same.
